Statement by Zulfikar Ali Bhutto during his Imprisonment

Yes, whoever fulfill his promise and guards (against evil). Then surely God loves those who sell the faith they owe to God and their own plighted words for a small price. These are they who shall have no portion in the hereafter and (God) will not speak to them nor will He look upon them on the Day of Resurrection, nor will He purify them, and they shall have a painful chastisement. And most surely (there is) a party of them who distort the Book with their tongues.

I have been branded as the “Modern Machiavelli”. But what about the “Modern Mcbeth” who, fearful of retribution, has embarked relentlessly on a bloody and sinful road of no return. My time in jail will pass. The verdict of history is irreversible.

Martial Law is a self-consuming system. It is injurious to the people. It erodes national unity and creates more problems than it pretends to solve. Why should the people face bullets if there is no cause to fire bullets at them? Masses struggle for a cause, and make sacrifices for it provided it is a worthy cause.

Martial Law does not have a mandate nor a charter. It is not the voice of the people. It is the noise of a gun. This system less system, this lawless law does not stand on a rational structure.

Martial Law is a self-defeating exercise. It generates the conditions it seeks to confront. It germinates the virus it seeks to kill. This is the paradox of Martial Law. It is a Frankenstein’s monster. It is not a cure but a curse.

Martial Law opens the flood gates, this kind of ‘Law’ re-opens settled problems than it pretends to resolve. It fosters regionalism and society gets stagnated and its victims dehumanized. These are the foot prints of Martial Law. Where then is the necessity for its visitation, when its application leads to a wasteland?

An accountable corrosive machinery is generally an anti-people oriented machinery. Being an enemy of the people, it is ultimately its own enemy. It sows the seeds of its own destruction. This is the fundamental purpose of Martial Law. It destroys itself and the people with it.

Silence of the people does not mean their acquiescence. The mirage of ‘effectual law’ will not stand the strain of a people cheated of their rights. Did millions die to live in terror, did they die to be flogged and lashed?

If peaceful conditions are to prevail again in this tragic land, the scourge of Martial Law will have to be lifted without any further delay. The longer it lasts the deeper will we sink into the quagmire.

On fifth July, General Zia made a categorical statement to the nation that elections would be held in 90 days. He kept on repeating this pledge with great gusto. Two days before he abruptly postponed the election, Agha Shahi told the United Nations General Assembly in unequivocal terms that General Zia was determined to hold elections. I used to hear a great deal about credibility. Where does credibility stand at this moment?

While giving reasons for the imposition of Martial Law he had clearly stated: " I saw no prospects of a compromise between the Pakistan Peoples Party and the Pakistan National Alliance because of their mutual distrust and lack of faith. The Army had, therefore, to act as a result of which Mr. Bhutto has ceased to exist; Martial Law has been imposed throughout the country".

- ❖ His first explanation was that he imposed his arbitrary rules on Pakistan because he had come to conclusion that an agreement between PPP Government and PNA was not possible.
- ❖ His second explanation was the so-called 'rigging of elections'.
- ❖ His third explanation was the so-called specter of 'Civil War' looming on the horizon of Pakistan.
- ❖ His fourth explanation was that my Government wanted to create chaos and strife.
- ❖ His fifth explanation was that he had destroyed the Constitution to save the Constitution.
- ❖ His sixth explanation was to take accountability.
- ❖ His seventh that I was going to remove him from his position as the Army Chief.

Indeed in the written statement he has invited his eighth explanation. This latest of all excuses relates to salvaging the economy by giving the Big Business a renewed lease of life to plunder the country.

The question of questions is whether these declared and repeated purposes of Martial Law are the real purposes of Martial Law. The word of leader in his fortune. In the last six months so many pledges have been shattered to pieces, that the Chief Martial Law Administrator now deems it necessary to tell a group of American Journalists that he is prepared to give them in writing that he does not want to be a politician. The people of Pakistan no longer believe his promises but I did not know that even foreigners had begun to disbelieve his word.

I summoned one of the Chiefs of Staff, to the Prime Minister's House on the morning of the 27th April, 1977 for a discussion on the situation obtaining in the country. I touched upon the massive foreign interference in the internal affairs of the country and told the gentlemen that I was going to take the Nation into confidence on the foreign efforts to destabilize the situation in Pakistan. It was in this context, that the idea emerged that joint statement by the Chairman, of Joint Chiefs of Staff and the three Chiefs of Staff, in support of the Government would have a salutary effect if it coincided with my disclosure in the National Assembly.

The Chief of Staff with whom this discussion took place returned to see me again after a couple of hours with the signed statement in his hand. I read the text for the first time when he delivered it to me. I vividly recall his telling me that he made the draft statement stronger on the words relating to the support to the legal Government. Now I can understand why he was so anxious to demonstrate this extra dose of loyalty. Since he was thickly involved in the foreign plot, he wanted to conceal his involvement by a conspicuous demonstration of loyalty.

General Zia welcomed the opportunity to make a show of his support to derail any data that might have come within my knowledge about the secret arrangement between him and a former Ambassador made about ten days earlier in Rawalpindi between the two of them while I was in Lahore. The arrangement was celebrated in the form of grand reception he gave to former Ambassador in the garb of a farewell party. Although he is a 'Momin' wine flowed freely that evening.

Force, naked and brute, moody and mad cannot be made the sole criterion of our honour and our respect. For thirty years we have gone from crisis and each crisis is deeper than the previous one. At last in 1973, this Nation evolved a democratic Constitution. This constitution cemented the Federation. It gave birth to new institutions and safeguarded the pre-existing ones. We began to move.

When there is no sense of Participation in the affairs of the Government by the people, there is lawless law of Martial Law, when atrocities are committed and the aspirations of the people, which is the basis for them to live together as a Nation, are undermined, then there is bound to be resistance by the people to the will of an individual leading to parting of ways.

The Pakistan Peoples Party is the premier Party of Pakistan. It has many able and gifted men and women in its rank. Many of them are eminent in their professions. Should they be debarred from any appointment on merit for being members of the Pakistan Peoples Party? I appointed a Chief of Army Staff belonging to Jamat-Islami and the result is before all of us.

Actually, General Zia has not the slightest intention of holding free and fair elections. He does not want to transfer power to the peoples chosen leaders. He wants to perpetuate his illegal usurpation. He has for the time being postponed elections for about a year to consolidate his power base. He knows that in about a year's time the epoch making event for which I have been striving to attain since 1964 is likely to take place.

General Zia is to eliminate me and my Party leadership and even the Party itself from the National scene, to have candidates of his own choice and finally not to have elections at all on the pretext of accountability invented by him in September, 1977 after he had seen the writing on the wall that the people of Pakistan were determined to return the PPP to Power.

He wants to bring about democratic institutions by his tailored methods of dictation and selection with supreme indifference to the will and opinion of the people. He does not expect to be taken seriously by the Nation when he pleads his bonafides in the matter of his vacillating stands on crucial matters.

It is no business of the Chief of Army Staff to select candidates for the electorate according to his standard methods of accountability in a subjective approach. It is for the Courts of the country under the Laws in force to look into such matters.

General Zia, by abruptly postponing the election, has put in jeopardy the national will and the national unity, Why did he imperial National interest and solidarity by taking such a disastrous decision? Why did he have to belittle Pakistan in the eyes of the world and belittle himself in the eyes of people of Pakistan?

He took this perilous step because he saw that, despite the incarceration of the PPP leadership and other measures taken against this premier party of the people, the elections were going to result in a massive victory for the PPP.

The fear of the landslide victory of the Pakistan Peoples Party has become such a morbid obsession with the junta that the Chief Martial Law Administrator virtually stated in Sibi on 23rd February 1978 that he would hold elections only when he was certain that my Party did not win the elections. This means no elections because my Party will win the elections whenever held.

The limited and immediate question (presently before the Supreme Court) is whether the Martial Law of General Zia can over-ride the Constitution of 1973 but the deeper and more fundamental question before this Hon'ble court is whether the Federation of Pakistan can survive without the Constitution of 1973.

If General Zia had known the elementary importance of the Constitution or had any regard for his oath to uphold it, he would not have called it a twelve page document which can be torn into pieces. I agree he is not an expert on Constitutional Law. He is not an expert on Political Science either. He knows nothing about economics. He is incapable of holding an intelligent Press Conference. Yet he, unanswerable to anyone, holds the life and destiny of seventy five million people of Pakistan in his hands.

The only way to restore legitimacy and save Pakistan is roundly reject his action of 5th July, 1977. Any attempt to justify that action will not take us back Dusso but to Doom.

General Zia's violation of the Constitution, his broken promises on elections, his grave injustices to the undisputed leadership of the country, his blind hatred for certain individuals and his deep prejudices against progressive ideas, his oversimplification of complicated issues his diatribes to foreign journalists have caused greater frustration and anxiety among the people of this country.

The Quaid-e-Azam believed in elections, General Zia, after solemnly promise to hold impartial election within 90 days and after confirming that declaration in United Nations on 28th September 1977 postponed the elections indefinite on the 1st of October, 1977 without any rhyme or any reason.

The Quaid-e-Azam believed in Constitutional democracy. The Quaid-e-Azam had stated very clearly that it was the duty of the Armed Forces to obey and uphold the letter and the spirit of the Constitution. General Zia does not need to be reminded of these utterances of the Quaid-e-Azam because when he drove with me from the Air Force base to my residence in Karachi in the beginning of July, the General Zia himself mentioned to me that the Quaid-e-Azam had uttered those words whilst addressing the Armed Forces in Quetta or Risalpur.

The Quaid-e-Azam believed in democracy and in the leadership of the people representatives. The General Zia set aside democracy and jailed the leadership of the people. For the first time in the history of Pakistan the elected Prime Minister of the Country has been given the most brutal and unjust treatment. General Zia should know that the repercussions of his policies are going to be of a far reaching nature on the issue of the unity and integrity of Pakistan.

If the Quaid-e-Azam is the ideal, if the Nation of Pakistan is to be modeled on his thoughts, in that event we need to show a modicum of respect for those thoughts in the building of Pakistan. The position of General Zia is diametrically opposed to the thoughts of the Quaid-e-Azam on every essential issue dealing with the State. The Quaid-e-Azam was a staunch proponent of Constitutional Government and Rule of Law. In contrast, General Zia has savagely violated the Constitution of 1973 and imposed an arbitrary one man rule to administer Pakistan.

The Quaid-e-Azam believed firmly in the parliamentary system of Government and in provincial autonomy which was enshrined in the 1973 Constitution, but General Zia is showing great enthusiasm and zeal for presidential system. Let General Zia know that he is going against the wisdom of the Father of the Nation on such vital political issues, on trying to raise the issues settled and determined by the Constitution of 1973 and he will be solely responsible for the deluge.

The people are silent but their silence should not be misunderstood. They have not acquiesced to usurpation. To say that they have acquiesced is an insult to their dignity and self-respect. The people are watching the situation with mute anger. A look into the eyes of the working classes will tell the state of their mind. None of them are happy over the present state of affairs. There is a tear in every eye.

The people want this night of terror to be put to an end. This is their wish, this is their prayer and this will be their verdict.

I have the privilege of being the leader of a revolutionary Party. We have faced two military dictators before. One was Ayub Khan and the other was Yahya Khan. We are not afraid of facing General Zia. The more force is used to suppress the People, the more will the People rise. This is verdict of history.

Every Government's days are numbered. Neither Cesar nor Napoleon ruled for a millennium. Hitler spoke of the thousand years Reich, but he crumbled in the ashes of the Reich within a decade. General Zia's illegal aspiration is not going to last until eternity.

Each individual has his own destiny; we cannot be intimidated by the noise of gunfire.

Charles Napier was a foreign conqueror and yet he told the leaders of Sindh after the battle of Miani in 1843, that he would give honour to those to whom honour was due notwithstanding the fact that they had fought a battle a day earlier. We know the honour in which the People hold us. We also know the 'honour' General Zia shown us since our incarceration on the 3rd of September, 1977.

In three months the Chairman has been arrested on three different occasions. The illegal arrest on 3rd September at Karachi was made in the most insulting and humiliating manner. At one stage General Zia stated that the courts were open and that he could not interfere in criminal and civil litigation in the ordinary Courts and that his regime would not take any action under Martial Law or otherwise but later he declared that the PPP Chairman and his associates would be tried by Military Courts when they were arrested under Martial Law Order 12, on 17th September. General Zia stated that the trial would initially take place in ordinary court but the military trials will be kept in reserve.

When General Zia postponed elections on 1st October, he was gracious enough to change his mind once more. This time he said that the trials will be held only in the ordinary courts. Originally, when the elections were to be held on 18th October, he was most anxious to get the Chairman PPP out of the way before 18th October and for that reason he ordered his trial and the trial of his associate by Military Courts.

Conditions give rise to violence. If the soil is not fit for the seeds of violence to grow, no amount of preaching will give rise to violence. If, on the other hand, the soil is fertile for violence, preaching is not needed. Martial Law is creating conditions for violence and it alone will be responsible if one fine day violence erupts in the country. By closing all avenues of normal and legal redress, Martial Law is fostering the advent of violence.

General Zia is desperately fighting a losing battle against his own Nation. The people of this Ideological state shall never permit a usurper to impose his will over the will of the people or permit him to nullify the ideals, aspirations and expectations to be achieved by them through their duty elected and chosen representatives.

Chiefs of Staff, good or bad, loyal or treacherous will come and go, but the institution of the Armed Forces is permanent. Hence, the CMLA should not try to make his person synonymous with the Armed Forces. He should not inject his wrongs and his crimes on the Armed Forces.

General Zia should neither drag in the other officers of the Armed Forces nor the institution of the Armed Forces. In this odyssey he is the lone warrior. In his speech on July 5th, 1977, he assumed full and sole responsibility for his illegal action. He said 'the process of change-over has been accomplished smoothly and peacefully. All this action was executed on my orders'.

The duty of the Army is to protect the country and its integrity from external aggression or internal disintegration when called upon to do so by the Government.

Independent Judiciary can only function under the umbrella of the Constitution and not under the shadow of the gun of brown Duke of Wellington. An independent judiciary exists side by side with an executive chosen by the people and a legislature elected by them. But the executive is in jail. The assemblies at Islamabad, Lahore, Peshawar, Quetta and Karachi, have become as silent as the grave yards. Can one flower flourish in a garden turned into a desert?

The country has been put into the dark ages by Martial Law. A Law if you want to call it so-based on the mood of an individual. On the strength of lashes and on the shoulders of brute force can never be a bridge. A bridge is built on understandings on the basis of cooperation of team and according to an agreed plan. It is a bond among people.

Wali Khan has been given all the liberty and blessings to abuse me while I am silenced in jail. It is a matter of record that he praised all previous usurpers who imposed Martial Laws. They discarded him then they discovered him. He did not discard them. His honeymoon with this Martial Law is the longest only because this Martial Law is playing to his tune. In each one of those tapes the Judges of the Supreme Court of Pakistan heard and all the other who attended the open Court proceedings heard Wali Khan shouting at the top of his voice that he would lift the chains of the border from Torkham and bring them to Marghala and from Chaman to Jacobabad? that he would then be enjoying the grapes and water-melons of Pakhtonistan and Afghanistan.

The top leadership of my Party is behind bars under Martial Law orders. Warnings have been administered to my wife for making lawful political speeches. My young daughter was served with orders to remain confined to a house in Sahiwal on the 22nd of September, 1977. None of us have been spared from the talons of his Martial Law.

General Zia has turned his personal bitterness towards me into a frightful bitterness towards the people of Pakistan by denying them the right to choose their leaders through democratic means. In his blind hatred and obsession towards me, he is turning his personal vendetta against me into a vendetta against Pakistan. In short he is suffering from 'Bhutto Phobia'.

Unfortunately, General Zia does not have any conception of the power of reason. His thoughts and actions, his pronouncements and decisions are intrinsically inimical to rationalism. A man can fall from power, but when a man falls in the estimation of his people by deceiving them by making false promises to them, by treating them with contempt, there can be no greater fall.

General Zia has not been able to conceal his obscurantist and mediaeval views in the course of three short months. His opposition and anger towards me stems partly if not chiefly from a conflict of views. He represents mediaeval thoughts. I represent progressive, contemporary thought.

Napoleon said that "Armies march on their stomachs". How can the security of the State be upheld by starving masses?

In the field of politics there is a void. In Foreign Affairs, the glow and glitter are gone.

In my time we held the Islamic Summit Conference. Now we hold our breath in joy if the President of Somali makes an overnight stop in Pakistan. In my time I took the Indians for a walk. Now the Indians have taken you for a dance.

You have even messed up the projection of our sacred religion, so much so, that sectarian slaughter has been fun with frightful vengeance. When you talk about the security of Pakistan, please let us know whether you want to make Pakistan into a Granada or a Karballa?

I believe in the emancipation of women, you want to cover them in darkness. I abolished the Sardari system but you are revising it by holding a "Shahi Darbar" in Sibi. I believe in the East you believe in the Commonwealth.

I give Constitutional rule and the rule of Law to Pakistan. General Zia gives Martial Law to Pakistan. I gave fundamental rights to the citizen of Pakistan. He gave lashes to the citizen of Pakistan. I ensure the independence of the judiciary. He set up Military Courts and Military Tribunals which awarded rigorous imprisonments and punitive fines before and individual has had time to blink.

I believe in nationalization. You believe in de-nationalization. I believe in technology. You believe in hypocrisy, I believe in the Constitution. You believe that the Constitution is a piece of paper. I believe that the Mullah belongs to the Mosque and you want the Mullah to be the Master of Pakistan.

We are poles apart and I am grateful to God Almighty for it. You do not even represent the stinking past; I represent the full glow of the future.

Of course, I am unarmed. I am not a General with tanks and artillery at my command but I am not a coward. God forbid, if the masses have to face bullets, I would be honored to be the first one to be hit by them. I am totally identified with the people. I will face what they face. I am facing what they are facing.

I believe the muscle of the People as a whole. Day by day that muscle is getting harder. One of these fine mornings, the first of seventy million people with a bulging muscle is going to hit with full force. A tank has still to be devised, an Armoured Corps has still to be formed which can bear the brunt of that punch.

The People of Pakistan WILL NEVER BELIEVE YOU. They can never trust you. The Collaborators will let you down. The People of Pakistan will never let me down. I have served all of them faithfully in every part of the Country.

The whole country is in the grip of tension. The people are tense and troubled. This critical situation has developed not because I am outside jail but because I am inside jail. A bayonet cannot be put behind every back. An unnatural state of affairs is aggravating in the situation.

Let the Chief Martial Law Administrator take of the funny-looking belt he puts across his chest and contest an election anywhere in Pakistan not against me but against my daughter Benazir. I can guarantee that she will give him such crushing defeat that he would forfeit his security deposit.

INTRODUCTION

Fakhr Zaman

“Except a living man there is nothing more wonderful than a book! a message to us from human souls... these arouse us, teach us, comfort us, and open their hearts to us.” Many books, biased and unbiased, have been written on Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, exploring his life, the controversial trial and his unjust and obnoxious hanging. However, no book has been presented so far, which may reveal the life of this legendary leader during his imprisonment in different jails of Pakistan, especially when he was kept in a dingy death cell during the suffocating summer of '78, at the Lahore District Jail at Kot Lakhpat, on the outskirts of Lahore, implicated in a framed and concocted murder case, which the over-killing state prosecution facilitated with all the might and resources of a dictatorial regime, had miserably failed to prove.

Those were memorable days – memorable because of the momentous nature of the phase through which the whole nation was passing through. As Alexander Smith has rightly said, “There is no ghost so difficult to lay as the ghost of an injury.”

And Zulfikar Ali Bhutto was injured, tortured and tormented –morally, mentally and psychologically, by a hounding junta which was thirsty for his blood. The military knew it, as it was the perpetrator of this injury to Bhutto, and the people knew it too. But they were kept to a deathly silence with the threats of lashes, arbitrary imprisonments and staged executions. Consequently, the whole Pakistani nation developed a silent guilt – a guilt in which they were frightfully hushed as silent spectators while their innocent messiah was sent to the gallows.

How did Bhutto live those days in his death cell at the Kot Lakhpat Jail? Who were his visitors and tormentors? Did he have any contact with the outside world? What were his health conditions in that inhumanly and insanitary dungeon? Was the conduct and attitude of the jail officials according to the book or was it otherwise? What did he think in those trying and depressing times especially when the Lahore High Court had condemned him to death for a crime which he had not committed? Last but not least how did Mr. Bhutto face the whole situation which he knew that his fate had already been predetermined by the Martial Law minions? Answers to these and many other related questions can be found in this work, which has the distinction of being a historic document because the classified papers published in it are actually taken from the official personal file of Mr. Bhutto, when he was housed as a convict at the notorious Kot Lakhpat Jail.

After being condemned to death in Nawab Muhammad Ahmad Khan's murder case, more popularly known as the Qasuri murder case, by the Lahore High Court, it seems as if Mr. Bhutto was reluctant to file an appeal in the Supreme Court, against the verdict of Lahore High Court because of the farcical trial he had to go through at Lahore, but was eventually prevailed upon by his senior defence counsel Mr. Yahya Bakhhtiar to file an appeal in the Supreme Court. In the meanwhile, the Zia Government had decided, for unknown reasons, to convert a portion of Kot Lakhpat Jail into Lahore High Court, to try Mr. Bhutto in the remaining cases instituted against him. One such case, in which Bhutto was tried there from 11th May '78 onwards, was under section 4 of the Representative offices (Punishment for Misconduct) Order 1977, headed by Mr. Justice Shafi-ur-Rehman. A number of concerned judicial papers and a court order granting permission of 4 to 6 weeks to Mr. Bhutto and his counsels to prepare defence in these cases are included in this volume. Related to these are two detailed secret documents of Punjab Police showing the special security arrangements being made at Kot Lakhpat during this trial. These additional extensive security measures deputing battalions of police in and around Kot Lakhpat Jail apart from normal security arrangements express as if they were meant for not one suspect Mr. Bhutto but an army of dreadful terrorists which was capable of breaking through the jail at will? Probably the goons of the Martial Law could not differentiate that Mr. Bhutto was a universally acclaimed dignified statesman and not a world feared thief like Charles Sobhraj or an international terrorist like Carlos or as a matter of fact in any way a Don of dreadful underground drugs or arms mafias, whose only aim was to swiftly secure his physical release from jail by gate-crashing means.

On the other hand, in his death cell, he was not merely fighting a battle between life and death, rather it was a grand struggle beyond the issue of material existence – a struggle to uphold truth against falsehood; to establish the supremacy of democracy against despotism; constitutionalism against decree and to defend the inalienable basic human rights of man again arbitrariness. What is great and beautiful about this was that he was fighting for all this in the most inhuman, trying and testing circumstances! In the end, he preferred to sacrifice his life for the ideals he held than to submit as a weakling to the whims of a dictator and his clique.

Plato had once commented, "He who commits injustice is ever made more wretched than he who suffers it." This proved exactly true in the case of Bhutto, who has been gaining sublime heights with each fleeting moment since his execution in sharp contrast to the perpetrators of injustice; condemnation of whom has been on the continuous rise.

There are about five handwritten, and one typed but duly Signed letters of Zulfikar Ali Bhutto in this book. They to great extent, reveal what he thought and felt about his country, the judiciary; the Martial Law regime, his family and last about his own fate. Two of these letters addressed to his senior counsel Mr. Yahya Bakhtiar are long, discussing various aspects of the case, the partisan attitude of Lahore High Court towards him, and a criticism of the Martial Law Government and its policies who in collaboration with the judiciary had unleashed a slanderous propaganda campaign against him and his Government, without giving him a single opportunity to defend himself. On top of it, he was not provided enough time and opportunities to meet his Defence Counsels. There is an original note from Mr. Yahya Bakhtiar to the jail authorities explaining them that he being his Defence Counsel be allowed to meet Mr. Bhutto. The tone of this note clearly indicates how obstructing and fussy the jail authorities were towards the Defence Counsels. Mr. Bhutto had also complaint to Yahya Bakhtiar in these letters that his visits to Mr. Bhutto were irregular, insufficient and short, not enabling him to adequately consult him regarding various impending cases and the murder appeal in the Supreme Court in which instead of the stipulated 30 days, the biased judiciary had sanctioned only seven days to appeal. Worse, from Jan. 10 '78, for about three running months Mr. Bhutto was not allowed to meet any of his counsels.

In these letters Bhutto had questioned the legal validity of the arbitrary transfer of his case from the Divisional Bench headed by Justice Samdani (who had released him on bail in September '77 in this murder case) to a 5 member - Lahore High Court Bench headed by Molvi Mushtaq, the Chief Justice (Lahore High Court), himself; (who was also given, in the meanwhile the additional charge of Chief Election Commissioner). He had pointed that while his case was sub-judice at Lahore High Court, the Martial Law regime had clearly committed contempt of court by branding him a cold-blooded murderer and a modern Machiavelli, which he lamented that the court had failed to take any notice of. He complaint that false and distorted publicity was deliberately given to Prosecution on state run electronic media, and the press was purposefully fed those selective parts of the in camera case proceedings, during Lahore High Court trial, which directly benefited the Prosecution, and in contrast not a single word of his defence was allowed to reach people, Moreover, while complete prohibition was placed on the publication of his incomplete in camera statement at Lahore High Court, no such restriction was placed on the other side, bent on maligning and disgracing his person and family. These letters also inform that defence witnesses were being harassed and threatened of dire consequences, to stop them from revealing the truth in the Supreme Court. The reign of terror let loose by the Ziaist Martial Law can be imagined from the fact that one of the Honourable Supreme Court judges was badly beaten up, in a public place by a senior army officer for saying that there was no case in actuality against Bhutto.

When Mr. Bhutto's appeal came up for hearing in the Supreme Court, Justice, Anwar-ul-Haq, the Chief Justice of Supreme Court decided to preside over the full bench, himself. He was the same person whose promotion had got delayed when through the passage of Sixth Constitutional Amendment in Parliament during Bhutto's regime, his predecessor Justice Yakub Ali Khan was given an extension, a step badly resented by Justice Anwar-ul-Haq. However, after usurping power, Zia made it mandatory for the judges of Supreme Court to take a fresh oath as determined by him, which Chief Justice Yakub Ali declined to take, resulting in his sacking and elevation of long awaiting Anwar-ul-Haq to the coveted post of Chief Justice of Pakistan. He expressed his gratitude to Zia by declaring him as a national savior, his Martial Law and coup d'état as justified under the much controversial "Doctrine of Necessity" and awarded him powers to act as the one man parliament, in his judgment in Begum Nusrat Bhutto's petition challenging the Martial Law of Zia. Mr. Bhutto mentioned these and quite a few other related points in a separate letter to Justice Anwar-ul-Haq with a final request not to preside over the Supreme Court when his appeal would come up for hearing. In the same letter he reminded Justice Anwar-ul-Haq that the latter had bitterly criticized his government and party during speeches at Lahore and Karachi where he had even gone to the extent by asking the advocates to "educate" the people so that persons like Bhutto and his colleagues might not return to power in future.

While prophesying the predictable outcome of his appeal in Supreme Court, Bhutto wrote in one of his letters to Yahya Bakhtiar that Gen. Zia had predetermined the time-frame in which he wanted him out of his way by stating that Supreme Court would complete the case in 6 to 8 weeks time.

The insight and analysis, and, prophesies and predictions of Bhutto about the circus being run by Zia in the cover of religion and accountability were so convincing and undeniable, that only a sage of his calibre could come up with them, especially when one knows that his contact with the outside world was almost nonexistent. His 'dak' was continuously censored and mostly withheld by jail authorities. Hundreds of letters were sent to him from within the country and abroad which hardly reached him. In this book are listed all those official orders and memoranda under which his mail was monitored and withheld by the jail authorities.

The only visitors excluding his Defence Counsels Mr. Yahya Bakhtiar and D.M. Awan, who were allowed audience to him were his wife and daughter, and they too, were allowed to meet him only once, during his entire stay at Kot Lakhpat Jail.

The attitude of the jail officials especially the Superintendent and Deputy Superintendent Jail was also unreasonably humiliating and sarcastic towards him. There are at least two documents in this book which can testify it. In addition, Bhutto was also harassed by the jail authorities in his death cell through cheap and crude gimmicks. One such gimmick was staged on the night of 21st April '78 when troops armed with automatic weapons first created commotion outside his death cell and then took positions menacingly close to his cell. This naturally irritated Bhutto, a lot, who was reading at that time. The next day he registered his written protest to Superintendent Jail in these words:

"... this drama of last night appears baffling. Surely the sacred jail manual does not provide for this crude form of intimidation. What is the object? Do they want to eliminate me through provocation or is the purpose to break my nerves through the brute show of force? There must be some rational explanation to these antics. As it is, I have been kept in shameful and intolerable conditions that they continue to add insult to injury? While I was writing this brief note to you, three chapatis (bread) were thrown into the patio outside my cell. When will the scores follow?"

But Bhutto, the Rana of Pakistan "the Rana" immortalized by the great sufi saint Shah Abdul Latif, braved all the fomentations, agonies and emotional blackmails which the Ziaist Martial Law could conceive in its Satanic Mind. The more he was tortured, the more stronger he became. In response to the emotional stresses, he was continuously subjected to, by Zia, the dictator, Bhutto observed in a letter to Yahya Bakhtiar, "When I saw my wife yesterday, I saw unknown harassment writ large on her beautiful face. Five days earlier, I saw more melancholy in the eyes of my youthful aristocratic daughter than words can tell. Bravo General, what splendid victories have you achieved."

The will-power, determination and courage of Mr. Bhutto were simply insurmountable. Though his soul sublimed with each passing day, there was a simultaneous decay of his physical being because of the dismal sanitary and hygienic conditions in his death cell. His weekly, fortnightly and emergency medical reports submitted by Dr. Niazi, Dr. Muhammad Iqbal and Medical Officer, District Jail Kot Lakhpat, Mr Abdul Rauf which are reproduced in this book in original, for the readers to see for themselves, are an eye-opener and ample proof of the growing debilitating health of Mr. Bhutto. Due to the unhygienic jail food, slowly, he got engulfed by a number of serious diseases. Almost every other medical report noted that he was losing appetite and weight with every passing day. Tender abdomen, contracted colon, pain in left side of the chest, coated tongue, indigestion, loose motions, vomiting, severe headache and nausea coupled with low and high temperatures took a heavy toll of his health. Mosquito bites often developed into infections. Added to these diseases were the infection on his right middle finger, and congestion and itching in eyes, which further weakened the once healthy Bhutto, into a skeleton of bones. Despite suggestions and warnings of Dr. Niazi and Dr. M. Iqbal that Bhutto be provided with clean and non-irritating food prepared under hygienic conditions, the jail authorities showed extreme callousness and criminal negligence in complying with the diet prescriptions of the doctors. The government of the day further contributed in worsening the health conditions of Mr. Bhutto by creating undue obstacles and by putting arbitrary limits on the visits of Dr. Niazi, the personal doctor of Mr. Bhutto, who used to come all the way from Islamabad. "All is well" type of medical examinations by the jail doctors compelled Mr. Bhutto to boycott their "paper medical check-ups" from 9th May, '78 onwards until he was transferred to District Jail Rawalpindi on May 17, '78 on the orders of Supreme Court.

Before closing the "Introduction", it will not be out of place to quote Mr. Bhutto's timeless comments on Zia regime, just before his departure to Rawalpindi to face the Supreme Court in connection with his appeal. He had said, "After the Supreme Court, the Highest Court will convene on the Day of Judgment. When I speak on that day, my orator will surpass those of all other victims of coups. I will indict the enemies of people ..... who in the name of God betrayed God and in the name of Islam have betrayed the Islam."

The following pages are reproduction of the personal file of Mr. Bhutto, from the secret records of the Punjab Police. Some of the letters and memos are retyped due to the quality of the original documents without adding or changing the document.

Dear Sir,

I re-examined Mr. Z.A. Bhutta today. He had a slight rise of temperature 99.0<sup>o</sup>F and touch of colitis for which the Medical Attendant of this jail gave him capsules of Intenstopan forte as advised by me at similar occasions previously.

His blood pressure was normal and his general state of health should be considered satisfactory inspite of the fact that he is losing weight and feeling weak. I have <sup>given</sup> ~~given~~ him his usual injection of Vit. B. Complex which should be repeated in a weeks time.

Yours Faithfully,

Priority/Secret.

Subject:- Security arrangements at Kotlikhat Jail during trial of Mr. Z.A. Bhutto in the Court situated in the said jail.-----

1. Information: It has been decided by the government to try Mr. Z.A. Bhutto in the remaining cases instituted against him in the High Court at Kotlikhat Jail. The trial will start from 11.3.78 at 8 a.m. onward. It is expected that, apart from a panel of Defence Counsel, many other people interested to know the proceedings would assemble outside the jail and, no such, law and order situation may arise at any time.

2. Intention
1. Strict maintenance of decorum of the law and order within and outside the Jail.
  2. Security of the Honourable Judge of the High Court.
  3. Strict maintenance of law and order to ensure safety of public and private property against miscreants.

3. Method. The following arrangements in consultation with Superintendent Jail are made from security point of view to keep the District Jail surroundings under proper check, so that no mischief/ disturbance is allowed to be caused by any one.

a. Location of the court. The court room is located on the main entrance gate of the District Jail and the court premises are properly walled from all sides. The stairs leading to the court room exist inside the Jail Offices in the ground floor close to the main entrance. Ordinarily there are two corridors meant for the people to have interview with the prisoners but during the present arrangements, it has been decided by the jail authorities not to use its northern corridor for interview purpose as the stairs to the upper storey go from this side. No uniformed Police arrangements are, therefore, required inside the jail premises inclusive of the court arrangements as has been decided by the Superintendent Jail.

b. Inner Cordon. The inner cordon includes the immediate front portion of the Jail wall right from south / eastern corner of the jail to north / Eastern corner of the jail. A force of 1,2,20 from Camp No. 1 Addl: Force under S.I. Muhammad Hussain Shah will be deputed on the inner cordon and it will be their duty not to allow any unauthorised person to move about in this area.

c. Central Cordon. In front of the District Jail Kotlikhat there are residential quarters situated on the right and left while there are some lawns in the immediate front on the main gate having a road running in the centre unto the out-skirts of the jail premises where some shops are situated. The central cordon is to be made in the lawns in between the residential quarters to further check up the entry of unauthorised persons towards the inner cordon. A force of 1,2,20 from Camp No. 1 under S.I. Rehmat Khan will be deputed on this cordon and it will be their foremost duty to see that persons coming for the interview of prisoners are allowed to reach the place of interview i.e. near the main gate of the jail only when the jail authorities through their representatives allow to do so. The persons coming for interview generally assemble under a shed near the mosque situated in front of the jail and from there onward, they are led to the place of interview by the jail representatives. The persons on duty in the central cordon will also see that there is no unauthorised approach to the main gate of the jail through the residential quarters.

d. Outer Cordon. This cordon stretches from the extreme north/- eastern corner to the extreme south / eastern corner of the outer premises in front of the Jail. Three platoons of 1,2,20 each as under will be deployed to cover this cordon:-

Platoon No.1 under S.I. Inam Ullah	} From Camp No. 1
Platoon No.2 under S.I. Abdul Hafeez.
Platoon No.3 under S.I. Muhammed Ibrahim.

It will be their duty to see that no unauthorised entry is made by any one from the fields in front of the jail premises and no suspicious persons loiter about in this cordon.

e. Northern Flank. The Police duty area of this flank stretches from the north/ eastern corner of the jail building to the last northern point of the outer cordon. There are some private houses situated near this cordon. A force of 1,2,20 from Camp No. 6 under S.I. Mohamed Tufail will be deputed to cover this flank in order to ensure that no unauthorised person enters into the outer premises of the Jail.

f. Southern Flank. The Police duty area of this flank stretches from the south/ eastern corner of the jail building to the last southern point of the outer cordon. A force of 1,2,20 from Camp No. 6 under S.I. Abdul Rashid will be deputed to cover this flank, which will ensure that no unauthorised access into the outer premises of the Jail is made.

g. Pickets. Picket No.1 A force of 1,2,20 from Camp No. 6 under S.I. Mohammad Aalam No.323/L will be stationed near the Primary School close to the south/eastern corner of the jail building. They will have their tentage accommodation near their duty point. A section of 1,1,4 will remain on duty alongwith a traffic constable to see that all the vehicles coming from outside towards the jail are not allowed to use the road close to the jail wall except official vehicles inclusive of those of the Honourable Judge and Prosecution/ Defence Counsel. The other incoming traffic will be marshalled straight towards the outer road of the jail premises running along the outer cordon unto the place where the shops are situated, where parking arrangements will be made by the traffic police.

Picket No.2 A contingent of 1,2,20 from Camp No.6 under S.I. Bashir Ahmed will remain reserve in the rear of the jail and they will have their tentage accommodation over there. They will be responsible to patrol the whole area of the rear side of the jail during court hours by deputing a section of 1,4 at a time. It will be their responsibility to see that no untoward happening takes place.

h. Additional Force. Two platoons of P.R.F ( fully equipped ) under the following officers will be kept as a reserve force in front of the Jail in a lawn near the canteen and tentage accommodation would be provided to them from lines.

S.I. Mohammad Yaqub, P.R.F.
S.I. Iqbal Akhter, P.R.F.

i. Checking of entry. Since it is considered to be an open court, some public men are expected to witness the court proceedings. In order to have a control over such entry, some pass system would be initiated according to the room available in the court without which none would be allowed to come to the main gate of the Jail for further entry into the court premises. For this purpose a Check Post of two upper subordinates i.e. L.S.I. Mohammed Anwar, P.S.Khan and ASI Sabir Hussain P.S.Khan under the charge of Mohammed Banaras, Inspector Addl: Police Camp No. 4 will be established near the Jail mosque. Once an authorised man reaches the Jail gate, he will be further checked by a Jail officer to ensure that the person is actually authorised to enter the court room and that he is not carrying any weapon or any other thing objectionable with him. For this purpose they will have to use a metal detector (to be provided by the Special Branch).

j. Magistrates. The following Magistrates will report at the Jail at 0700 hrs on 11.3.1978:-

1. Syed Ishrat Ali Shah, A.C. (Sadar)
  2. Sufi Ghulam Mustafa (M.I.C)
  3. Mr. Inam ul-Haq, M.I.C.
- They will be deployed as decided by A.C Sadar and S.P.Sadar.

k. Administration. Is given below:-

- a. Uniforms. Normal working dress.
- b. Arms. O.Cs and U/Ss will be armed with revolvers and have necessary spare rounds.
L.Se - will be armed with Polo sticks. Each reserve will have four men armed. These men should be specially picked and will remain under the direct control of the i/c Reserve.
- c. Transport. will be provided from Lines.
- d. Tour Ops. S.P.II rs will please detail 4 (four) Tour Gas Sections for duty with S.P./Sadar.
- e. Meals. will be provided by the Camp i/c at the appropriate times.
- f. Reporting time. will be 0630 hrs on 11.3.1978.

l. Communication. will be by wireless through the sets available with S.P. Sadar and DSP/Sadar.

m. Supervision. Sh. Mohammed Rashid, DSP/Sadar assisted by Mr. Mohammed Yousef DSP/ Addl: Force, Rofr Mohd Banaras Insp: Addl: Force and SHO Khan will supervise the above mentioned arrangements. Mr. Zulfikar Ali Khan S.P.Sadar will be over all in charge of the entire arrangements.

COPY OF ORDER:

11.3.1978. Mr. Khalid Rauf, Special Public Prosecutor -
P/S Zakaullah and Mr. Bilal Khan Advocates.

Accused with P/S Yahya Bakhtiar, Ghulam Ali Hemon,
Sh. Muhammad Hashid, Abdul Sattar Hajam, Rabana Sarwar, Purnendu
Iqbal Channa, Q.M. Saleem and Miss Yasmin Watto, Advocates.

The copies of the F.I.Rs, police report, the statement of witnesses and other documents have been handed over to the learned counsel for the accused.

2. A request on behalf of the accused, has been made, in this as well as in other cases coming up today, that an adjournment of four to six weeks be allowed, so that he may appropriately defend himself in these proceedings. It has been in this connection pointed out that the accused had to face a long murder trial which has just concluded and the judgment is still awaited. It will therefore take some time for the accused, he being in detention, to give full instructions to his counsel and to prepare himself for this trial.

3. This request is not, in the circumstances of the case an unreasonable one. It is allowed. The learned counsel representing the accused shall inform this Court in the second week of April about the preparedness of the accused to face the charges so that the dates for trial be given.

4. The accused is remanded to judicial custody till then.

5. The learned counsel for the accused shall be allowed to interview the accused at reasonable hours and for reasonable periods, in accordance with the rules of the Jail."

Dear Sir,

I examined Mr. S.A. Bhutto today and also gave him the usual injection i.e. Vit.B. Complex.

He has had an episode of colitis but this time with Hypotonia (96.4 F) and a fall in his blood pressure (Hypotonia). This afternoon he is feeling better. On examination, I found countless marks on his body which which he stated are from mosquito bites.

His next injection would be due in a weeks time.

Dear Sir,

I examined Mr. B.A. Bhutto this afternoon. He complains of a pain in his left chest since yesterday morning and is being treated with tablets of optalidon. He has a low grade fever and his pulse rate is slightly increased. His blood pressure is satisfactory.

I have given him his weekly injection of Vit. B complex and requested Dr. A.R. Farooqi to be vigilant regarding his chest pain.

A re-examination may be indicated at any time, besides the weekly injection.

Dear Sir,

I have given Mr. Z.A. Bhutto his weekly injection of Vit. B. Complex which should be repeated next week.

He complained of nausea, loss of appetite and generalised weakness. His food intake has been very little.

I examined him and found a coated tongue, tender abdomen and a contracted colon. His pulse and blood - pressure readings were within normal limits. The pain in his chest has subsided to a large extent. His eyes still got congested and itchy. The medicines prescribed last Thursday should be continued. Nonirritating i.e. bland food of a nourishing nature is also advised.

TRANSCRIPT OF A LETTER FROM Z. A. BHUTTO TO YAHYA BAKHTIAR.

Death Cell,
Kot Lakhpat Jail,
April 13th 1978

Mr. Yahya Bukhtiar,
Barrister-at-Law, Lahore.
Dear Mr. Bukhtiar,

Whatever the reasons, I have not had a meeting with you for the last nine days to discuss the appeal filed in the Supreme Court. You were very keen, nay; you almost compelled me to file the appeal. What is the good of that advice if I am to be a victim of yet another acrimonial formality? The farce enacted in the Lahore High Court was outrageous and, if I may say so, brutal during the camera proceedings. That judgment is so demented that only a Chief Election Commissioner of a Martial Law regime could have delimited such a constituency. He separated justice from truth like he is separating the electoral list between real Muslims and the non-Muslims including those he considers to be Muslims in name. He went to the extent of denying me the "constitutional right" to file the appeal within thirty days. With an ulterior motive, he deliberately violated elementary law on the subject by providing only seven days. He knew that it would be a gargantuan task to do justice to the appeal as I was without a Counsel from 10th January 1978 and the proceedings were in a secret stars chamber from 25th January 1978 onwards. This was the parting kick in the deep prejudice he poured on the farcical trial during its inception. Already on the basis of rudimentary information trickling out of the sealed frontiers, international public opinion has felt a sense of revulsion. A number of highly influential and respected newspapers have stated in cold print that the Chief Election Commissioner was unmistakably hostile to me.

In a case like this, handled the way it has been handled, it would be the height of naivety to silence world leaders and their Parliaments, the whole body of world public opinion by sealing their lips with the contempt of court laws of Pakistan. General Zia-ul-Haq himself built these laws by committing gross and unpardonable contempt by calling me a murderer when the Chief Election Commissioner was to preside over my "pre-determined fate". The General says that nobody is above the law but he has placed himself above the law. Quite apart the power bestowed on him to amend the constitution, on the 11th of April 1978, he boastfully stated in Hyderabad that terrestrial limits do not bind him. (By way of obiter dicta he also remarked that "Sindh is the heart of Pakistan" – what a cruel joke.) Having committed grotesque contempt at the most critical time, now-a-days he is trying to retrieve the situation by saying that the case is sub judice. The striking contrast makes the trial contempt all the more conspicuous and poignant. The damage has been done. Not only the General but an array of his collaborators like Maudoodi are committing contempt of courts every day. In view of these anomalies, leaders of the world, their parliaments and their people have taken notice of the constitutional and legal vacuum prevailing in Pakistan. Under Martial Law, to protest against the depraved judgment of the Chief Election

Commissioner. The General does not know elementary diplomatic norms when he observes that the messages pre merge recommendations made on a personal basis. He found it necessary disclose rather mercifully the messages referred to him as dear brother. Does he expect to be addressed in plain language?

Returning to the crucial issues, I would like to emphasize that I am deprived of my constitutional and statutory right to appeal within 90 days. This has caused me grave detriment. Barely six weeks were given to study the voluminous record, made more difficult by vital gaps and by the imputations. Added to these difficulties are the handicaps of being without a Counsel from 10th January 1978 and those of the secret proceedings from 25th of January 1978. I believe only a few days ago it was said that you may get the missing and mysterious record of the court proceedings relevant to my incomplete statements but with a prohibition on its publication. In my humble opinion, the precedents relied are not applicable. Major Yusuf's case contained sensational sexual material and not capital punishment. The publication of that material has corrupted the morals of our Victorian Youth. In the present only the corrupt morals of the Chief Election Commissioner would have been exposed. However in that case, subject to correction the Supreme Court upheld the judgment of the sessions judge, which was against camera proceedings. Neither, in my opinion, is the ban on the publication of affidavits filed in detention cases relating to the security of the state an applicable precedent. In these cases it cannot be ruled out that the revelations may compromise or endanger the security of the state. This possibility does not exist at all in my case.

My second objection relates to the uneven and discriminatory attitude towards the Prosecution and the Defence. Throughout the carnival of the Chief Election Commissioner, full and distorted publicity was given to the prosecution side on the radio, television and the newspapers. This included those parts of the camera proceedings beneficial to the prosecution. A most vicious and insidious slander campaign was unleashed against me. Not a word of my defence reached the people. The disfigured judgment of the Chief Election Commissioner is appearing in juicy installments in the controlled and occupied press of Pakistan. People were expecting some balance of equity when the proceedings were released from the talons of the Chief Election Commissioner. An executive ban was placed on the short appeal filed in great haste and in the most harrowing conditions. This is followed by the prohibition placed on the publication of my incomplete statements in camera while placing no such restrictions on the statements of the others.

Thirdly, the conditions of my imprisonment in this den do not make it physically practical for me to have a fair opportunity of consulting my Counsel. You have been inside this cell. I hope you will agree with me that I am not exaggerating or dramatizing the conditions, when I state that it is impossible to think straight in this suffocating environment. I have written to you separately on the real object of keeping me in this death cell. Please read this letter together with that one to fathom the plot in its totality. If with all these and other staggering limitations, I am unable to meet my Senior Counsel, how do you expect me to feel about the outcome of my struggle to vindicate my honour and establish my innocence?

Fourthly, please add to these limitations, the ominous and inherent impediments, both physical and psychological, placed by a vindictive Martial Law regime bent upon stopping at nothing. Already the likely defence witnesses are being threatened with dire consequences if they depose truthfully in the Supreme Court. Whatever the poor man might now say in these monstrous conditions, you know the circumstances under which Muhammad Hayat Junejo braved out of the case as my main Counsel in the Chief Election Commissioner's Court. This is worse than how brave Horatio must have felt while fighting fearful odds to defend the bridge of Rome.

Fifthly, the General stated before the appeal was lodged that the Supreme Court would complete the case in six to eight weeks. The General is not a legal luminary. He has predetermined the time frame to have me out of the way before the end of June in order to take some difficult and unpleasant decisions on the budget and connected issues. In the meantime he is dangling the carrot of a so-called "National Government" without the Nation. Is the head of Zulfikar Ali Bhutto so cheap that court vacations take a preference over the fate of the Nation's undisputed leader? I need not less than three months to prepare my appeal. I must be removed from this stinking den. Their lust should have been satisfied by keeping me here for almost a month. I must be allowed to meet my family more frequently and without watch dogs. This normal facility is granted even to ordinary condemned prisoners. They have ordered me to die but I cannot meet my family in privacy. My Counsel must meet me more frequently and without hindrance. You hardly arrive and the officials become fidgety.

As time passes the General talks more like a divine saint. He is seeking to create the comical impression that he has been sent down from heaven to transform society. He is going to resolve the worldwide problem of polarization, little realizing that his perverse decisions have intensified polarization. When I saw my wife yesterday I saw inhuman harassment writ large on her beautiful face. Five days earlier, I saw more melancholy in the eyes of my youthful and aristocratic daughter than words can tell. Bravo General, what splendid victories you have achieved. After the Supreme Court, the Highest Court will convene on the Day of Judgment. When I speak on that day, my oratory will surpass those of all other victims of coups and conspiracies. I will indict the enemies of the people, the arch rivals, the congenital, and incorrigible liars who, in the name of God have betrayed *God and in the name of Islam have betrayed Islam. It will not be a secret trial. Every usurper is tormented by the guilt of his betrayal. The shame of such doing will not give solace to their hardened souls. Such coarse individuals who stop at nothing cannot grasp the magic in the music of my Latif. When I appeared in the Supreme Court in October, on concluding my submissions, I deviated from the constitution and told the Court that I am the Rana of Pakistan, the Rana immortalized by Shah Latif. The Chief Justice asked Brohi what it meant. Brohi said I was romancing. He missed the fine point. Now the point is, whether once bitten, I should again cover the beaten track, without preparation, without legal consultation in the circumstances I have mentioned only to pass through a ritual and to be asked for the second time, "what it meant".

Zulfikar Ali Bhutto

To the Superintendent of Jail, Kot Lakhpat Jail, Lahore.

I would appreciate it if you would kindly make it convenient to have the attached letter immediately delivered to my Senior Counsel, Mr. Yahya Bukhtiar. It is a three page letter written on both sides. I request that its transmission to Mr. Bukhtiar should not brook any delay whatsoever. Besides, since it is a privileged document, written in a judiciary content, it should be sent directly to him. I would like to have his acknowledgement of this communication.

Thanking you.

Dear Mr. Butcherian,

Whatever the reason, I have not had a meeting with you for the last nine days to discuss the appeal filed in the Supreme Court. You were very keen, nay, you almost compelled me to file the appeal. What is the good of that advice if I am to be a victim of yet another serious and cowardly? An executive ban was placed on the short appeal filed in great haste and in the most harassing conditions. This is followed by the prohibition placed on the publication of my incomplete statements in Lameza while placing no such restrictions on the statements of the others.

Thirdly, the conditions of my imprisonment in this den do not make it physical practical for me to have a fair opportunity of consulting my counsel. You have been inside this cell. I hope you will agree with me that I am not exaggerating or dramatizing the conditions, when I state that it is impossible to think straight in this suffocating environment.

I have written to you separately on the real object of keeping me in this death cell. Please read this letter together with the one to fellow the spirit in its totality. If with all these and other staggering limitations, if I am unable to meet my senior counsel, ~~how~~ how do you expect me to feel about the outcome of my struggle to vindicate my honour and establish my innocence?

Finally, please add to these limitations, the omnibus and inherent impediments, both physical and psychological, placed by a vindictive Pakistani regime bent upon stopping all nothing. Already the liberty defence witnesses are being threatened with dire consequences if they defame kindly as the Supreme Court. Whatever the poor man might say in words

These monstrous conditions you know the circumstances under which shameless Hagek Jungo based out of the case as my main counsel in the Chief Election Commission's Court. This is worse than had brave Horatio ever been felt while fighting, facing odds to defend the bridge of Rome.

Fly, Fly, the General stated before the appeal was lodged that the Supreme Court would complete the case in six to eight weeks
The General is not a legal visionary. He has pre-determined the time frame to have me out of the way before the end of June in order to take some difficult and unpleasant decisions on the budget and unrelated issues. In the ~~meantime~~ meantime he is dangling the carrot of a so-called "National Government" without the Nation. Is the head of Zeyn-ud-Din so cheap that Court verdicts take a preference over the fate of the Nation's undisputed leader? I need not lose three months to postpone my appeal. I must be removed from this striking desk. Their best should have been satisfied by keeping me here for almost a month. I must be allowed to meet my family more frequently and without weeks delay. This undue jealousy is granted even to ordinary condemned prisoners. They have a right to die but I cannot meet my family in prison. My counsel must meet me more frequently and without hindrance. You hardly arrive and the officials become fidgety.

As time passes the General talks more like a divine man
He is seeking to create the comical impression that he has been sent down from heaven to transform society. He is going to resolve the world wide problem of polarization, little realizing that his perverse decisions have intensified polarization. When I saw my wife yesterday I saw intense heartbreak writ large on her beautiful face. Two days earlier, I saw more melancholy in the eyes of my youthful and ambitious daughter than words can tell. Bravo General, what splendid victories you have achieved. After the Supreme Court, the Highest Court will convene on the Day of Judgment. When I speak on that day, my oratory will not surpass those of all other victims of coups and conspiracies. I will witness the enemies of the people, die each

The U.P. Act No. 2 of 1956 which empowers is committed by the guilt of him. Therefore, the blame of section 143 will not give solace to their kindred souls. Such course individuals who stop at nothing cannot grasp the magic in the ~~words~~ <sup>music</sup> of my letter, when I appeared in the Supreme Court in October, on concluding my submissions, I deviated from the least bit and told the Court that I am the Raza of Pakistan, the Raza immortalized by the letter. The Chief Justice asked Bhabha what it meant. Bhabha said I was, notwithstanding he missed the fine point. Now the point is, whether one writes, I should again cover the bottom track, without preparation, without legal consultation in the circumstances I have mentioned only to pass through a ritual and to be asked for the second time "what it meant."

This morning at 9.15 A.M. I sent you a letter for my Senior Counsel, Pt. Yehya Bukhtian, with a covering note to kindly transmit this ~~the~~ letter to him at once due to its urgency and to obtain a receipt from him to satisfy me that the communication was in his hands. In the covering note I had also mentioned that since the contents of the letter were of a fiduciary nature, it would be illegal if this privilege was breached by official interception.

When the Deputy Superintendent of Jail accompanied Dr. Ikbal to the death cell at about 1.20 P.M. I asked him if the letter had been delivered to my Counsel and if it had, I should be given the acknowledgment receipt. The Deputy Superintendent told me sarcastically that this jail was firm under a lot of the lily. He could have kept his screams to himself. In over five months I went from this very jail to the city to attend the carnival of the High Court. I do not have to be told the distance of this jail from the city.

Now the time is 7.20 P.M. and the receipt has still not been delivered to me. Surely there is a deducible assumption which can be drawn without any difficulty. I am not able to meet my Counsel. In the absence of the meeting, I cannot even write to him in confidence. What is the point of this futile exercise?

April 20th 1978

M. J. S. B. Bhattar, B.A.,
Barrister-at-Law,
S. L. 11.

Dear Mr. Bhattar,

In my letter to you of April 13th 1978 I mentioned that for some reasons unknown to me, you had not seen me for some full days you met me on the 16th of April 1978. Again four valuable days have passed and I have not been able to have any consultation with you. I cannot follow the reason only a few days are left for the hearing of my appeal to be possible, still on your mind heart, you have come to share my view?

The surrounding and eminent circumstances have been capped by the appointment of today relating to the appointment of Mr. Chief Justice of the Supreme Court as Acting President of Pakistan during the two week absence from the country of President Fazal Bhutto. How can a responsible decision be arrived with profound discretion? Very little is left to the Government.

Justice has descended on the land. I am a ~~native~~ called a cold blooded murderer and a modern Machiavelli. I am arrested on the 11th of September 1977 and sentenced on 3rd September 1977. My career is adversely affected from the dismissal of Chief Justice to window to the hands of four judges presided over by Acting Chief Justice. When Mr. Justice has also been appointed as Chief Justice Commissioner on 1st October under Article No. 12 on the 1st September 1977 despite categorical announcements to the contrary by Zia-ul-Haq on 13th September 1977. This is a historical injustice and a historical shame. My trial is conducted through a 10th lawyer appointed in the judicial history of the country with the same proceedings and the same importance. The Acting Chief Justice becomes the Chief Justice of the Lahore High Court which is a historical injustice. During the trial, as a reply to the reference on his objection, he ~~deliberately~~ attacks my opponent. His past prejudices going back to 1962 are now open book. On the 9th of March, after much ado, he produces the Nazim Case of Mr. Nadeem to a and then to it that I am taken to this death cell.

The other side of the coin is that the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court is ignominiously blown out for merely admitting for hearing the constitutional petition of Gyan Nandan Bhambha challenging the imposition of Section 144. The judges are made to take a new oath of allegiance within 24 hours or else —. The present Chief Justice refuses to take the oath. The constitutional petition is dismissed and Section 144 is upheld by the notion of constitutional deviation. Throughout the carnival at Lahore, despite the plethora of applications, the Supreme Court refuses to come to the rescue of justice. During the course of the trial at Lahore, the Chief Justice of Pakistan made at least two speeches critical of my Government, one in Lahore and the other in Karachi. The Karachi speech was particularly invidious. The Supreme Court was more than anxious to obstruct means. The official straightaway with great difficulty you managed to get an extension of 14 days. The Supreme Court did not deem it appropriate to get you out of this den of death because "nobody is above the law". After the constitutional deviation decision assigning such a thing like part quoting the scriptures in the decision of judges and other jurists have been impressed with retrospective effect, while my official is before the Supreme Court now and the appointment of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court as the Acting President of Pakistan let us see what he is about to preside over my fate. There is again combining political functions with judicial functions. It means further identification with the purposes of the state. A lot of political pagantry before the object of blood. What encaste methods!

I believe one of the judges of the Supreme Court got objection up to by in a public place by a Sarda Army officer, saying that there was no case against me. This is a minor matter relating to a minor problem.

In the circumstances would it not be appropriate if the Chief Justice dis-associates from presiding over the bench of the Supreme Court that is to hear my appeal?

Yours truly
Ghulam Nabi Khan

Dear Mr. Bukhtiar,

In my letter to you of April 13th 1978, I mentioned that for some reasons unknown to me, you had not seen me for nine full days. You met me on the 16th of April 1978. Again four valuable days have passed and I have not been able to have any consultation with you. I cannot fathom the reason. Only ninety days are left for the hearing of this appeal. Is impossible that in your inner heart, you have come to share my view?

The surrounding and ominous circumstances have been capped by the announcement of today relating to the appointment of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court as Acting President of Pakistan during the two weeks absence from the country of President Fazal Illahi Chaudhry. Is this a sagacious decision exercised with nrofound discretion? Very little is left to the imagination.

Martial Law descends on the land. I am called a cold blooded murderer and a modern Machiavelli. I am arrested in the most humiliating circumstances on 3rd September 1977. Justice Samdani grants me bail on 3rd September 1977. My case is arbitrarily transferred from the Divisional Bench of Justice Samdani to the bench of five judges presided over by Acting Chief Justice Lahore High Court who has also been appointed as Chief Election Commissioner. I am re-arrested under M.L.O. No. 12 on 16th September 1977 despite categorical announcement to the contrary by Zia-ul-Haq on 13th September 1977. Without justification and in indecent haste, my bail is cancelled. Then starts the biggest carnival in the judicial history of the sub-continent with in camera proceedings and Press Conferences. The Acting Chief Justice becomes the Chief Justice of Lahore High Court while the trial is in progress. During the trial the reply to the reference on his elevation, he bitterly attacks my government. His past prejudices going back to 1962 are an open book. On the 9th of March, after such order, he provides the Magna Carta of Martial Law and sees to it that I am taken to this death cell.

The other side of the coin is that the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court is ignominiously blown out for merely admitting for hearing the constitutional petition of Begum Nusrat Bhutto challenging the imposition of Martial Law. The judges are made to take a new oath of allegiance within 24 hours or else—. The present Chief Justice replaces Yaqub Ali Khan. This constitutional petition is dismissed and Martial Law is baptised by the notion of constitutional deviation. Throughout carnival at Lahore, despite the plethora of applications, the Supreme Court refuses to come to the rescue of justice. During the course of the trial at Lahore, the Chief Justice of Pakistan made at least two speeches critical of my government, one in Lahore and the other in Karachi. The Karachi speech was particularly injurious. The Supreme Court was more than anxious to start hearing the appeal straightaway. With great difficulty you managed to get an extension of 14 days. The Supreme Court did not deem it appropriate to get me out of this den of sleuths because "nobody is above the law". After the constitutional deviation decision, saying such a thing is like Devil quoting the scriptures. This selection of judges and other perquisites have been increased with retrospective effect while my appeal is before the Supreme Court. Now comes the appointment of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court as the Acting President of Pakistan at the time when he is about to preside over my fate. This is again combining political functions with judicial functions. It means greater identification with the purposes of Martial Law. A taste of political pageantry before the odour of blood. What uncouth methods!

I believe one of the judges of the Supreme Court got beaten up badly in a public place by a senior army officer for saying that there was no case against me. This is a minor matter relating to a minor problem.

In the circumstances would it not be appropriate if the Chief Justice disassociates from presiding over the bench of the Supreme Court that is to hear my appeal?

PRISONER SUFLOAH ALI BHUTTO.

Sir,

I have the honour to forward herewith an application dated 22-4-1978 submitted by the above named Condemned Prisoner addressed to Mr. Inhya Bukhtiar his counsel.

I have no comments except to state that the contents of application are merely stretch of his imagination and abstract of thoughts. Every thing is going on perfectly smooth and in accordance with practices and rules of the institutions.

Some pieces of dry Chapatis were however, driven in his enclosure away from his cell by dusty winds from the roof which should not have been a cause for complaint and he was told accordingly.

MEMORANDUM

Kindly find attached a Press clipping from the Daily Mashraeq dated 9-5-1978 pertaining to Condemned Prisoner Sulfiqar Ali Bhatti.

Mr. Yahya Bukhtiar, the Senior Counsel of the Prisoner, who is also obviously a source for this news item visited the Prisoner yesterday i.e. 8-5-1978 at 12:00 noon. The Jail Medical Officer and the undersigned also visited this Prisoner at 11:30 A.M. the same day in routine.

The report of Medical Officer dated 8-5-1978 is attached. As indicated in the report he had neither vomited nor had any temperature, however he complained of general weakness and giddiness and as usual he refused to be weighte-

The Principal Dental College Dr. Cheema also intimated vide this office no. 2585 dated 30-4-1978 had come to the jail for his treatment in accordance with the instructions contained in Government no. 13/122-SO-PHS-II-ED/78 <sup>dated 4.4.78.</sup> He had refused to be examined/treated by him.

Today at 11:00 A.M. the Medical Officer Jail went to his cell for routine check up, but he refused examination by the jail Doctor and gave no reasons for this.

To

Mr. Justice Anwarul Haq, Chief Justice of Pakistan and President of Pakistan, Rawalpindi.

Sir,

My appeal against the judgment of the Lahore High Court sentencing me to death and imprisonment is pending in the Supreme Court of Pakistan of which you are the Chief Justice. I am writing this application from the death cell of Kot Lakhpat Jail, Lahore with a request which, I consider to be pre-eminently legitimate and reasonable. I am writing this application after anxious and careful thought. The request is a simple one. Please do not preside over the Supreme Court when my appeal comes up for hearing on 20th May 1978. The following inter alia are the reasons for my request:-

1. You resented the Constitution Sixth Amendment made by the Parliament whereby your predecessor got an extension in the term of his office and your promotion to the office of the Chief Justice of Pakistan got consequently delayed. Yes, as leader of the House, I was responsible for that amendment in the Constitution made through Parliament in accordance with the procedure laid down in the Constitution. You have held the Constitution to be still the Supreme Law of the land except, that according to your judgment, a single individual without any mandate from the people, can amend it at will. You have in fact empowered him to change altogether the shape of the Constitution and indeed 'to scrap it'. Thus he has been allowed by you to rule the Country in the most arbitrary manner for an indefinite period without being accountable to the people. You considered it necessary to give this power to this individual because he nullified the Constitutional Sixth Amendment a day after your predecessor while presiding over the Supreme Court admitted for hearing Begum Nusrat Bhutto's petitions challenging the Martial Law of General Ziaul Haq, the Chief of the Army Staff. By the repeal of this Constitutional amendment, he was able to unceremoniously remove your predecessor Mr. Justice Mohammad Inqoob Ali from the office of the Chief Justice of Pakistan and appoint you to succeed him. How much a Chief Justice can influence a Bench presided over by him became apparent when the same Bench presided over by you nullified its order, made four days earlier, when presided over by your predecessor about bringing me and other detained colleagues of mine from different parts of the Country to Rawalpindi for the hearing of the petition.

2. Before you assumed office as the Chief Justice, the judges of the Supreme Court had, I believe, declined to take a fresh oath as determined by the 'suspender' of the Constitution. But on your assumption of office as the Chief Justice all the judges of the Supreme Court immediately agreed to take the new oath ordered by General Ziaul Haq.

3. At the reference given on your appointment, you considered it appropriate to be critical of my administration for the amendments made in the Constitution during my Government - clearly implying your deep resentment against me. Thus, inferentially you expressed your gratitude to General Ziaul Haq for removing Mr. Justice Yaqoob Ali and appointing you as the Chief Justice. You reciprocated his gesture in full measure by your judgment in Begum Nusrat Bhutto's petition. By virtue of this judgment, General Ziaul Haq was declared as a national saviour, his Martial Law and coup d'etat justified on "the doctrine of necessity" and his power to act as the one man parliament to amend the Constitution confirmed. You could not possibly withhold the power of amending the Constitution from him as without this power he could not have repealed or nullified the Constitution Sixth Amendment which facilitated your appointment as the Chief Justice of Pakistan and Mr. Justice Yaqoob Ali's removal from that office.
4. Again on the occasion of the Fourth Pakistan Jurist Conference which was inaugurated by General Ziaul Haq you thought it fit to criticise my Government in your presidential address.
5. While addressing the Bar Associations at Karachi on 23rd and 24th of January this year you publicly and bitterly criticized my Government and Party.

You went to the extent of advising advocates to 'educate' the people so that persons like me and my colleagues were not returned to power by them in future (for your satisfaction, please, check with Radio Pakistan the transcripts of your addresses at Karachi as the newspapers did not fully report these speeches. The tapes of your Karachi addresses, I understand, are available with some private individuals also).

6. That you and Mr. Justice Mushtaq Hussain the Chief Justice of the Lahore High Court have been very close to each other for many years and both of you are zealously collaborating with the Martial Law regime. There could be no two opinions about it.
7. That while my appeal is pending before the Supreme Court you did not consider it indiscreet or embarrassing to accept General Ziaul Haq's offer to appoint you as the Acting President of Pakistan. Was this also unavoidable because of the doctrine of necessity? By becoming the Head of State of the Country and by actively identifying yourself fully with the Executive at this critical juncture when the dark shadow of the Martial Law is cast over the whole Country and more so on my appeal, you have institutionally fused the office of the President and that of the Chief Justice into one. By merging, albeit temporarily, the two remaining organs of the State - The Executive and the Judiciary - completely you have done irreparable loss to the Country.

General Ziaul Haq has called my trial by the High Court as just and fair trial although I have disputed this in my appeal and the Supreme Court has yet to determine these questions. He called me a "murderer" when my case was subjudice in the High Court. Now belatedly, he tells the world leaders not to make appeals for exercising an executive power of commuting the death sentence awarded to me on the ground that the matter is subjudice before the Supreme Court. Although this executive power has nothing to do with the appeal pending in the Supreme Court, yet it never occurred to him not to prejudice and prejudge the false case against me when it was pending in the High Court.

You would, therefore, be doing a service to Pakistan, the Judiciary and yourself by not sitting on the Bench which hears my appeal, by not selecting judges for that purpose but letting the full Court, including the ad-hoc Judges to hear the appeal as was done by the Court in hearing Begum Nusrat Bhutto's petition against Martial Law. I had thought that perhaps you would yourself find it unfair and embarrassing to preside over the Bench which hears my appeal in view of the undisputed and well known facts stated above. I have been constrained to address you on the subject as I find no indication thus far, on your part to dis-associate yourself from hearing the appeal in my case.
